

For Immediate Release

Oslo – Learning to Fly

Oslo – Learning to Fly offers the first comprehensive presentation of the radical transformation of this former sleepy village into an emerging world city. Oslo has been among the fastest growing cities in Europe for decades – and this book spans from the conversion of a major shipyard into the multi-use borough Aker Brygge in the late 1980s, and into 2030 when the transformation to a post-industrial city will be complete.

Inside, the philosophy and principles behind Oslo's urban development are revealed – and the book may be used both as a tool-kit for urban practitioners in post-industrial cities, and as a gift book for people all over the world who want to familiarise themselves with the 'Oslopolitan' way of life and with how to do the noblest art of them all: the art of city making.

Oslo – Learning to Fly is divided into four chapters. Chapter 1 is dedicated to the harbour landscape of the Fjord City, Chapter 2 to the managing of growth through hub densification, Chapter 3 is about transformation and refinement of the already existing urban fabric, and Chapter 4 covers the relevance of so-called 'third places' and their importance in enabling the concept of community.

And please, don't leave me on the coffee table. I'm made for walking. Bring me with you when you walk the streets of Oslo, and use me as a treasure map to discover the secrets of the city.

Erling Fossen is a human geographer and self-proclaimed urban doctor. He is currently the project leader of Oslo Metropolitan Area – a non-profit organisation devoted to urban development in the Greater Oslo.

For more information:
Marie arvinus, Publisher
marie@arvinus.se
+46 705277015

Facts:

Language: English

Authors: Erling Fossen, Silje Bareksten, Elin Børrud, Greg Clark, Ellen de Vibe, Halvor Weider Ellefsen, Pål H. Engh, Kamzy Gunaratnam, Anne Beate Hovind, Kristin Jarmund, Dana Jdid, Bjørnar Johnsen, Erling Lae, David Leonard, Maiuran Loganathan, Asbjørg Næss, Kathrine Nyhus, Emil Paaske, Tin Phan, Liv Sæteren, Knut Schreiner, Lin Skaufel, Marianne Skjulhaug, Aga Skorupka, Henning Sunde, Aslaug Tveit, Aat Vos, Janne Wilberg, Ivar Winther

Editor: Jon Lindblom

Translation: Kevin Gallagher

Graphic Design: WAAITT

No. of Pages: 336

Format: 190 x 248 mm

Binding: Flexicover

Publication Date: December 2018

ISBN: 978-91-87543-98-2

Retail Price: 39€

For press inquiries:

Sofia Hedbeg
sofia@arvinus.se
+46 (0) 8 32 0015

Arvinius + Orfeus Publishing
Olivecronas Väg 4
113 61 Stockholm, Sweden
www.ao-publishing.com